

Become an Outdoor Classrooms Sponsor

Partner with a Community of Educators Growing Learning and Teaching Beyond Four Walls

The Outdoor Classrooms Podcast and Outdoor-Classrooms.com serve a growing community of educators, school leaders, nature-based programs, and families who believe children thrive when learning is connected to the natural world.

Each week, we inspire and equip educators with practical strategies, fresh ideas, and meaningful conversations that help bring learning outdoors. Through our podcast, newsletter, online community, professional development programs, and website resources, we reach educators who are actively seeking tools, curriculum, books, training, and services that support outdoor learning.

When you become a sponsor, you're doing more than advertising your organization—you are investing in a movement that is changing the face of education one outdoor classroom at a time.

Why Sponsor Outdoor Classrooms?

Unlike traditional advertising, sponsorship with Outdoor Classrooms connects your organization with a highly engaged audience that shares your commitment to children, nature, and meaningful learning experiences.

Your sponsorship helps support the creation of free educational content, weekly podcast episodes, professional development opportunities, and resources that empower educators around the world.

Together, we can cultivate a generation of children who learn, grow, and thrive outdoors.
